General Manager

Dear Mr Addison

AUSTRALIAN FORESTRY CERTIFICATION (AFS) FOR KARRI

Please find attached a copy of the above certificate.

The Forest Products Commission is responsible for commercial timber production from publically owned native forests and plantations in Western Australia. The Commission has been granted an Australian Forestry Standard (AS: 4708) Scope of Certification certificate to cover the management and production of karri from the south-west Western Australian forests.

With respect to native forests, the Commission's Environmental Management System operates to standards established under a Forest Management Plan that is approved by the Minister for the Environment, as well as our Regional Forest Agreement that has been signed with the Commonwealth Government of Australia.

Under Western Australia's State native forest policy, timber is no longer sourced from old growth forest. Native hardwoods, including jarrah, karri and marri, are now supplied from regrowth forests on a sustainable basis. The Forest Products Commission is pleased to be working with Western Australia's forest products and manufacturing industry to deliver quality products from certified and sustainably managed forests.

Yours sincerely

Dr Paul Biggs
